Keen Disappointment at Lack of Investment Buying.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.-12:30 p. m.-There is no question but what the market this morning was disappointing, and that it will remain so most of the day. The fine rally and the generally better tone led to the belief that the market good advance and continuing active to-day and perhaps for the rest of the week. Brokers and commission house: looked for a splendid business on account of investors this morning, and were Ladly disappointed in the paucity of orders.

The bear element soon noticed the lack of buying orders and changed their po-sition again. Those who had been most urgent in their covering on Saturday were most active in putting out a line of shorts again today.

There was this comfort, that the mar-

In times to come, October 23 to November 23 will be days that New York financial men can never forget—days when the United States was troubled and when no one knew from what quarter the first explosion would come.

LOEB AND HIBBS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Secretary to the President William Loeb, jr., was in New York today on a mysterious errand from Washington. Secretary Loeb was accompanied by W. B. Hibbs, a prominent banker of Washington and both left their hotel early and went down town to the financial district.

Secretary Loeb refused to give even a hint of his business in New York and would not indicate with whom he expected to confer in Wall Street.

WASHINGTON PRODUCE MARKET

Prices were normal in the local produce market this morning, in spite of a heavy demand on all goods. There were many good sales of turkeys and other poultry and had it not been that receipts were especially heavy, these commodities would have been pushed to much higher prices.

The demand on celery cranberries, squash, and a few green fruits and vegetables was heavy and foretells an especially good market for tomorrow and Wednesday. Game was more plentiful today than it has been for several days, and as a result the figures were slightly lower.

Stocks Has Not Dropped During New York's Financial Struggle.

An interesting circular on mining inestments has ben received from the ofice of Dudley A. Tyng & Co., the Chiare mining authorities.

It is certain that in the general depreciation in the values of securities, mining shares of merit have not suffered proportionately with the old giltedged railroad shares like New York Central, St. Paul and Erle, to say nothng of the enormous decreases in th value of every railroad and industrial share traded in on Wall Sstreet, share traded in on Wall Sstreet.

But mining stocks have suffered in their turn, just as everything else has, and in mining as in railroad stocks, some of the finest bargains ever exposed for sale in mart of necessity are offered at this time to the man with money.

for sale in mart of necessity are offered at this time to the man with money.

Dudley A. Tyng & Co., apparently, have the right idea of the future. It is recognized that this panic has been, like the last on Wail Street, purely a rich man's disaster, though in its effects extending to many people and to many interests. The firm believe that the next few months will be marked by a curtailment of the wants of the rich in the line of luxuries, of automolisies and foreign tours, and as a result of this curtailment, more money in the banks and general improvement with 1908.

Attention is called to the fact that the buying of mining and other stocks today is accredited to the most conservative and careful classes, accumulators of cash for just such opportunities as are now being offered daily to the man with the cash to take advantage, thereof.

Attention is also called to the large number of new stockholders in the various corporations, in many cases as high as thirty per cent increase being noted. This indicates the unloading of the rich and the opportunity of the saver-opportunity accepted.

There are a.. kinds of mining stocks-mining stocks on paper and on walls, as well as in alleys. But mining stocks

The Chicago firm calls especial attention to a number of good copper and other mining properties. In one of the companies mentioned, such men as John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, of Chicago, and John Lambert, Iron king, and the very presence of such names on a directors' board promises much for the prospects of the corporation.
